PLAN SURVEY OF COUNTY FOR MORE SCHOOLS

Preliminary plans for a survey of the needs of Adams county for school construction to provide graded schools for its youngsters were made Monday night at a dinner meeting of the county school board held at the home of Assistant County Superintendent of Schools and Mrs. Robert A. Bream, Gettysburg R. D.

The study, to be completed by the county board and county superintendent's office is to be made at the request of the Pennsylvania school commission which anticipates that under the new public school law No. 403 eventually nearly all one-room schools will be replaced by larger graded schools.

The board extended the veterans training program in agriculture for another year. The present program would automatically expire July 1. With the extension it will last under the present plan until July 1, 1947.

REQUISITE OF GOOD FARMER IS GOOD WIFE

One of the main requisites to be a good farmer is to first obtain the right kind of wife, Dr. Kenneth Hood, extension economist from State college told members of the Adams County Senior extension club at a meeting Monday evening at the court house.

Speaking on "The Future of Agriculture" Doctor Hood pointed out that fifty out of every 100 farm boys and girls go to the city rather than remain on the farm for their livelihood.

There are ten requirements a man must consider if he is to be a farmer, the State college extension economist pointed out. He listed them as:

1. He must have the right kind of a farm.
2. He must have the right kind of a wife.
3. He must have experience. The chances are about one in fifty of a man making good who does not have any farm background and attempts to make farming his life's work.
4. He must have some sort of education. The wide spread in farm income between those people who make use of available information and those who do not prove this point. It matters not if the man has a degree or cannot read or write if he will only make use of the better methods which have proven to be successful.
5. The rate of production which can be obtained from given units of land or livestock are important.
6. The size of the farm and possibilities for expansion.
7. More direct markets and a trend toward cooperation must not be overlooked.
8. Transportation in relation to markets.
9. The importance of quality of product will come to our attention more forcibly in the near future.
10. Finally, one must have a personal aptitude or a desire to farm if he is to be successful.

A farmer will never be able to secure an eight hour day or a forty hour week, Doctor Hood continued. "Farming is a full time occupation. We can expect to see more labor saving equipment on farms and more conveniences for home and

Restricted OPA Bill Drafted; Some Controls Are Continued

Washington, June 25 (AP)—An OPA bill far short of what the administration asked but a good deal less stringent than it expected went to the House today from a night shift conference session.

Left intact were price controls over meat, butter, cigarettes and gasoline, but the one-year extension of the war-born agency yanked away many of OPA's powers over the national economy.

The House, then the Senate, and finally President Truman must approve the measure if it is to keep all price ceilings from expiring next Sunday midnight.

Although a last minute decision knocked out sections which would have ended controls over livestock, poultry, dairy products, tobacco and petroleum at the end of this month, many of the bill's provisions were written specifically to force a raise in prices.

Advocates contended that such a course would spur production and put the nation on the highway to

Guest speaker for the evening was John R. Tinney, Hagerstown, superintendent of safety of the Western Maryland railroad, who was introduced by Charles Myers, Gettysburg's veteran of 66 years with the Western Maryland.

Quoting figures to show that the railroads of the United States carried the great bulk of the passenger and freight load in this nation during World War II, he rated buses second as passenger haulers and Great Lakes shipping and the pipelines in second and third positions, respectively, in freight handling.

He attributed the greatly superior performance of the railroads in World War II over that in World War I to the formation of coordinating bodies by the railroads themselves and also by the government. Railroads cost the taxpayers $2,000,000 daily during the first war while during the last war the government received $3,000,000 daily from the railroads in taxes, the speaker said.

Pointing out that the lessons of the first World War were not lost on the railroad industry, Mr. Tinney said that in 1934 the American Association of Railroads was formed and took over the handling of car distribution in cooperation with shippers' advisory boards formed in 13 areas of the country. ## O'CONOR LEADS FOR SENATOR IN MARYLAND

(By The Associated Press)

Governor Herbert R. O'Connor of Maryland claimed victory today in his bid for the Democratic nomination to replace two-term George L. Radcliffe in the Senate.

Meanwhile in North Dakota two more Senate seats were at stake in voting today and in Indiana the Democratic state convention met to choose a candidate—expected to be former Governor M. Clifford Townsend—for the place being vacated by retiring Republican Senator Raymond E. Willis. Indiana Republicans already have chosen William E. Jenner.

With two-thirds of the precincts in yesterday's Maryland primary heard from, O'Connor was more than 20,000 votes ahead of the incumbent. Radcliffe was one of the legislators the CIO-PAC singled out for defeat this year, although the union political group made no formal endorsement in the primary.

William Preston Lane, Maryland's Democratic national committeeman, held a commanding margin over a field of seven seeking the Democratic nomination for governor. In second place was State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes, who sought to make the CIO-PAC's asserted preference for Lane a main campaign issue.

Others Balloting

D. John Markey, former brigadier general, had a 2 to 1 lead over Joseph Allison Wilmer of LaPlata for the Republican senatorial nomination. For governor, Republicans gave Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin of Baltimore a 3 to 1 margin over Herman L. Mills, Hagerstown business man.

Names of two Republican senators, William F. Langer and Milton R. Young, were before the voters in North Dakota. Langer sought nomination for a second term and Young asked election to complete the unexpired term of the late Senator John Moses (D.). Young was appointed in March, 1945, to serve until the election.

Langer's opponent was State Senator J. B. Bridston, who played up the senator's votes against the United Nations Charter, British loan and Selective Service extension.

Young figured in a three-sided race with former Republican Senator Gerald P. Nye, steadfast foe of the Roosevelt administration's foreign policy, running as an independent, and P. W. Lanier, Jr., 33-year-old marine veteran from Fargo, the Democratic choice.

6 Youths Make First Communion

Sunday, observed throughout the Catholic world as the Feast of Corpus Christi, in honor of the institution of the Holy Eucharist, was First Communion day at the Paradise Rectory chapel, near Abbotstown, when two girls of the Paradise Catholic parish and four boys, residents of the rectory, received Holy Communion for the first time.

The rectory boys, Aloysius Bonk, John Domanski, John Gross and Francis Kirsch, received their First Communion at the 7 o'clock mass.

The girls were communicants at the regular 8:30 parish mass. They were Pearl Hamilton and Janet Marie McMaster. Candle-bearers, children of the parish who had previously made their First Communion, preceded them in their procession to the altar.

All six children were prepared for the sacrament by the Sisters of St. Joseph who have charge of the rectory and also teach the parochial and Sunday schools of the parish.

The Rev. William B. Cavanaugh, pastor and rectory chaplain, had charge of both services.

PUBLISHER IS SHOT BY PAIR HID IN TRUCK

Chicago, June 25 (AP)—The remnants of the old Capone gang were hunted today as police sought the assassins who last night fired shotgun blasts into the automobile of James M. Ragen, wealthy racing news publisher, seriously wounding him.

After firing at the 65-year-old Ragen—who has boldly defied efforts of a gang of hoodlums to muscle into his business, the would-be killers, hiding in a camouflaged truck, then engaged in a brief but lusty gun battle with his bodyguards who were in another car.

Shotgun pellets and revolver bullets flew over a busy intersection, smashing into windows and buildings and sending pedestrians to cover. The truck, laden with orange crates and other boxes and its skeleton sides and tops covered with tarpaulin, sped south. The two gunmen under the tarpaulin, fired a final blast splattering the car of the bodyguards with buckshot.

Escape Bodyguards

Ragen's bodyguards, Walter Pelletier, a retired policeman, and Marty Walsh, did not pursue the gunmen. Pelletier told police his shotgun was useless, the mechanism having jammed, while Walsh had unloaded his revolver in the battle.

They returned to Ragen and took him to a hospital. He was conscious upon admittance and told news-men: "Well, I guess if they want you, they're going to get you."

Ragen's right shoulder and arm were mangled by a shotgun blast. He was reported in serious condition from shock and loss of blood and was placed in an oxygen tent. Three policemen were on guard to forestall any attempt by Ragen's assailants to reach him.

The attempt on Ragen's life was the second in two months. Last April Ragen, the head of the Continental Press, a nationwide race news distribution service, eluded two gunmen in an auto chase on the far south side, where he lives with his wife and six sons and daughters. Later he was afforded police protection and he told authorities he would resist any attempt by hoodlums from taking over control of his racing news business.

The Acme softball team tightened its grip on first place in the Community Softball League by walloping the State Guard 12-1 in the opener on the college field Monday evening. The game was called at the end of the fifth inning to permit the playing of the second game, after the start had been delayed until the arrival of a number of State Guard players.

In the second game on the college field the VFW outfit nosed out the American Legion 1-0 in a pitchers' duel between Ross Sachs and Tom Carter. Sachs won his own game in the fourth when he doubled to score a runner who had reached second base on a wild throw to first. The Moose pulled a big surprise by nipping the State Highway 4-3 in the only game played on the high school field. The lodgemen played the contest with but eight men.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, June 25 (AP)—While Col. Heinie Miller, N.B.A. executive secretary, is advocating the establishment of a 185-pound boxing class, he quotes figures which seem to show that fighters in this division would be few and far between.

A breakdown in weights of army inductees, made by the Surgeon General's office, shows that only four per cent of the men weigh between 180 and 189 pounds; 24 per cent between 190 and 199 and three per cent over 200 pounds. . . . By contrast, 20.9 per cent weigh between 140 and 149 pounds, but Miller and the N.B.A. are opposed to such things as "Junior Welters" and why pick 185 pounds, anyway? This department can't see much difference between 174-pound Billy Conn fighting 207-pound Joe Louis and some 186-pounder taking on a guy who weighs 220.

TOADY'S GUEST STAR

"Lev," Paterson, N. J., Morning Call: "The elimination of Conn as a top-flight contender leaves the heavyweight ranks as bare as a bubble dancer without the bubble."

Secretary Dan Ferris is figuring on about six events for the "Lennart strand special" track meet here July 2. ## 7 OF BASEBALL NINE ARE KILLED

Seattle, June 25 (AP)—A plunging bus carried at least seven members of Spokane's western International league baseball team to death in the Cascade mountains last night.

Six bodies were found at the spot where the bus hurtled down a precipitous embankment and burned. One died of injuries before reaching a Seattle hospital.

Eight were in the King county or Snoqualmie Falls hospitals, some in critical condition. A ninth was taken to Ellensburg after the accident, suffering from arm burns.

The latter, Gus Hallberg, of Boston, a pitcher, said: "Men were scattered all over the hill." He told of diving out of the flaming bus after recovering consciousness at the bottom of the embankment.

The accident occurred about four miles west of the Snoqualmie Pass highway summit, 3,000 feet high in the Cascade mountains. The big bus ripped out a section of heavy cable guard railing and rolled down a precipitous hillside of sharp rocks for a distance variously estimated at 300 to 500 feet.

YANKS WIN 7 IN 10 STARTS, GAIN ON BOSOX

By JACK HAND

(Associated Press Sports Writer) Bill Dickey is earning his manager's spurs on his first western jaunt as New York Yankee skipper, picking up 3½ games on the front-running Boston Red Sox with a revitalized lineup.

The trip isn't over yet and the Yanks have a rugged afternoon date today with rapid Robert Feller. But seven victories in 10 starts comes under the heading of good news in Larry MacPhail's swank Fifth Avenue office.

Since the club left the stadium 10 games behind Joe Cronin's gang, Dickey has installed Johnny Lindell as his regular first baseman and relegated both Nick Etten and George Stinewiss, the 1945 batting king, to the shadows of the dugout.

Probably the most important development of the western swing has been the "arrival" of Floyd (call me Bill) Bevens as the No. 2 man on the pitching staff, right behind Spud Chandler.

Bevens has gone well in the mid-west, where he topped St. Louis and Chicago before shutting out Cleveland 1-0 in last night's contest.

Just an Even Break

Boston played in Detroit but could get no better than a 5-3 tie in a twilight contest called after nine frames because of darkness. As a result their margin over the Yanks was sliced to 6½ games.

Chicago outlasted Washington, 12-7, in a night game marred by seven errors.

Brooklyn boosted its National league lead over idle St. Louis to three games by outscrambling Cincinnati, 6-5, in 13 innings.

Ed Wright hurled the Boston Braves to their fifth straight triumph, a neat five-hit shutout of Chicago, 5-0.

All other National league clubs and Philadelphia and St. Louis in the American were not scheduled.

Musial Takes Lead From Dixie Walker

New York, June 25 (AP)—Playing first base instead of left field seems to have acted like a tonic for Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, who has wrested the National league batting lead from Brooklyn's Dixie Walker according to averages including Sunday's games.

Hitting the ball at a 516 pace with 16 hits in 31 trips during the past week, Musial added 23 points to his average, displacing Walker with a .363 mark. Right behind Walker's .362 comes Johnny Hopp of Boston at .361 to make it a tough three-way scrap.

Mickey Vernon of Washington clung to first place in the American league with a .367 average, a 17-point spread over Boston's Ted Williams, whose mark faded 10 degrees to .350. The others trailed far behind.

Eastern League

(By The Associated Press)

The Hartford Chiefs took a firm hold on second place in the Eastern league today after walloping their closest rivals, the Wilkes-Barre Barons, in a doubleheader, 1-0 and 5-4.

The victories gave Hartford a three-game margin in second place, eight and a half games behind the league leading Scranton Miners. The Miners, meanwhile, blanked the Albany Senators, 7 to 0.

The Elmira Pioneers won their fourth in a row, defeating the Utica Blue Sox, 5 to 3.

The Williamsport Grays defeated the Binghamton Triplets, 4-2.

Tonight's schedule: Wilkes-Barre at Hartford, (2); Williamsport at Binghamton, (2); Scranton at Albany, (2), and Utica at Elmira.

Sunday Baseball Amendment Sought

Philadelphia, June 25 (AP)—Amendment of Pennsylvania's famed "Blue Laws" to permit Sunday baseball "at least until sundown" will be sought by State Representative Joseph A. Scanlon at the next session of the Pennsylvania Legislature.

Scanlon, leader of the Philadelphia delegation in the state House of Representatives, said yesterday that he hopes to amend the law which now states that no inning of a Sunday baseball game may start after 5:45 p. m. (EST).

This law, Scanlon said, forced termination of a recent Philadelphia Phillies-Cincinnati Reds National league game with the score tied 3-3 in the 11th inning.

Scanlon said the fans "all were bitter at this curfew business."

Inter State League

(By The Associated Press)

Wilkes-Barre continued its winning ways last night, defeating Harrisburg 9 to 6 and increasing its Interstate league lead to 3½ games over second-place Trenton.

Trenton's Giants, who had topped the standings for nearly a month until the Blue Rocks knocked them from the pedestal, fell back still more when Sunbury won a thriller, 1-0.

Lancaster routed Hagerstown, 9 to 2, and York jolted Allentown, 10 to 7, in other games.

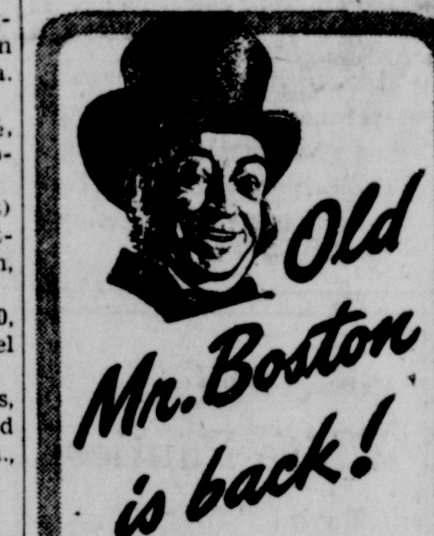

Tonight's schedule: Harrisburg at Wilkes-Barre; Lancaster at Hagerstown; Trenton at Sunbury; York at Allentown.

State Seeks More Surplus Material

Harrisburg, June 25 (AP)—The Commonwealth has purchased approximately $3,000,000 in federal surplus material for state institutions but could use a great deal more, the Department of Property and Supplies disclosed today.

"Only approximately a fifth of our orders have been accepted," explained Paul S. Worcester, assistant director of the State Bureau of Purchases. The others have been returned marked "unavailable" or "absorbed by higher priority groups."

Worcester said the State, like all other public and private institutions seeking to purchase surplus, has experienced "extreme difficulty in completing transactions" although it has been more successful than private institutions because of ability to buy in larger quantities and its higher priority position.

GOP NOMINEES LAUNCH DRIVE AGAINST FOES

Washington, June 25 (AP)—Pennsylvania's Republican nominees for major office this fall were united today in an all-out offensive against "New Deal" handling of labor, veteran housing, consumer and other problems.

Scattering to jobs in the Keystone State and in Congress after a get-together last night which brought forth a 10-point statement of "campaign principles," the candidates saw themselves increasing Republican strength in Congress while retaining Republican control of the Keystone State for four more years.

Governor Edward Martin, nominee for U. S. Senate, planned to return to Pennsylvania early today with his running-mates on the Statewide ticket, Attorney General James H. Duff, of Carnegie, nominee for Governor; Brig. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler, of Lancaster, for Lieutenant Governor; and William S. Livengood, Jr., of Somerset, seeking reelection as Secretary of Internal Affairs.

They and 30 of the 33 Republican nominees for the 80th Congress heard top State and National leaders of their party preach that Pennsylvania can swing the Nation to Republicanism by increasing Pennsylvania's Republican delegation in Congress.

They did not reveal how many seats they hope to gain. Republicans now hold 19 of the State's 33 House places.

In their declaration of principles, they promised reduction in Federal expenditures and "waste" followed by income tax reductions; "Earliest possible" removal of government controls, more workable veterans legislation, and, also for veterans, "houses on the ground instead of castles in the air."

They criticized administration

Plane Hits Auto, Kills Occupants

Memphis, Tenn., June 25 (AP)—Two persons were killed in the attempted landing of an Army C-47 at the Air Transport Command airport here Sunday. The ship's landing gear struck a car on a highway alongside the airport as it approached the airport killing both occupants of the automobile.

The plane was forced to circle policies which they said represented "a march to state socialism" and "pledged to encourage production of an abundance of goods at reasonable prices."

Speakers included Rep. J. Carroll Reese (R-Tenn.), Republican National Committee executive, Pennsylvania Republican chairman M. Harvey Taylor, and G. Mason Owlett and Mrs. J. Worthington Scranton, of Scranton, Republican National Committee members, in addition to the candidates themselves.

Only three of the Congressional nominees were not present. They were former Mayor William J. Crow, of Uniontown, nominee from the 23rd district, who was absent because of a death in his family; Ignatius J. Pillart, of Pittsburgh, candidate in the heavily Democratic 32nd district; and Marine Capt. George W. Sarbacher, Jr., of Philadelphia nominee against Pennsylvania's ex-private "GI Congressman," Rep. William J. Green, Democrat, in the 5th district.

Rep. Richard M. Simpson, of Huntingdon, who is in line to be chairman of the delegation next year because the two incumbents who outrank him, Wolfenden and Kinzer, are not seeking re-election, handled arrangements for the affair. He said later the speeches were largely devoted to campaign mechanics, and he did not consider it proper to disclose campaign methods at this time.

Duff told a reporter before leaving Washington that the party's prospects in the state "look good."

"Governor Martin has given the people a good administration," he said. "Nationally, the picture affords real optimism for our electing new Congressmen."

GIRL, 3, KILLED BY NEIGHBOR, 14

Harrisburg, Pa., June 25 (AP)—A three-year-old girl was strangled and her body thrown into a small creek a few blocks from her suburban Lawnton home after a "scared" 14-year-old boy attempted to assault her, State Police Sergeant Edwin J. Stroman reported today.

The slaying of little Margie Vaughn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Paul Vaughn, occurred yesterday, Stroman said, adding he had arrested the boy—a neighbor of the victim—and was holding him for action by the district attorney.

Stroman announced flatly that the youngster, unnamed because he is a juvenile and not yet formally charged, "confessed the whole thing" after intensive questioning at state police barracks here.

The sergeant said the boy told him the little girl was killed after he attempted to assault her and the field for two hours to use up its load of gas before it could crash-land. None of the six GI passengers were hurt. Capt. Francis L. Kenny of Enon Valley, Pa., was co-pilot.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

M'Kinley and Hobart—Next President and vice president of the United States: The great political event of last week was the nomination by the Republican National convention, at St. Louis, of ex-Governor M'Kinley, of Ohio, for President, and of Garret A. Hobart, of New Jersey, for Vice President. It was one of the most remarkable conventions ever held in the country. Starting in with a bitter contest in the early part of the campaign, M'Kinley won upon the first ballot by a vote of 661½, 200 more than necessary to nominate. With the exception of Abraham Lincoln, Mr. M'Kinley's touch is closest with the people—the plain people—upon whom the martyred President relied with such abiding confidence.

The platform of the Republican party is unqualifiedly in sympathy with the gold standard—the honest money of the civilized world.

Today's Talk

WE ARE LED BY OUR LIKES

If a flower, or a tree, is left to itself in Nature, it does very well. It's the interference with Nature that breaks up the natural process.

The successful and happy are usually those left to work out their station in life, in society, and in the world at large, in their own way. The grazing animal searches for the green grass, or other nourishing sustenance, guided by its natural instincts and discoveries. The human being, who pursues the same course, is sure to find his best niche in the world.

Those most creative are those who live most alone, guided by their likes. The truly great have limited associates. Their loves sit before their eyes in small vases, like a rare orchid, or a superlative rose. Our early reading and early associates often brand our character during all life.

George Borrow was one of the most remarkable of all English writers. He devoted his life to the study of gypsies, and actually became one that he might learn their ways, and his interesting books are about them. He was born with the wandering instinct. And his boyhood habits marked his whole life. And in his case they led him to distinction—as is usually the case when one is left to his own guiding likes.

The ordinary workman who loves what he does, no matter what it may be, is far greater to be admired than the one who dislikes his work, chained to it, however, because of social or family reasons. Our loves and likes should compose the team to drive us through life!

I have a friend, who is a mail carrier in New Jersey. He has carried the mail on his route for years. He likes the work, but his love is to write poetry, and to read it to the children along his route, and to those who anxiously await his mail. So beloved has he become that the reading of one of his poems often makes up for the non-receipt of a letter! Here is an instance where the familiar, and smiling "Bucky" has become a traveling institution.

Happy is that one who has finally found his work—but happier is that one who has early been led to it naturally by his likes and loves.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Under The Lids Of Life."

LITTLE GIRL HABIT
She is lovely now, and she

She is almost five, and she

Though to stop her, mother tries;
And I frequently advise

Otherwise as good as gold,
Little Ellen I behold
Sucks her thumb!

Down that pretty, little mouth
Will her thumb be headed

Towards her "tum."
Soon or late it will occur.
All who call say: "Look at her

Of the habits children get,
Which are viewed with deep regret,
Worse are some.
This one lasts so short a while
That I watch her with a smile
Suck her thumb.

U. S. WILL KEEP
A-BOMB SECRET
DESPITE REDS

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Pravda's outburst against the American atomic control plan has brought the to-be-expected reaction—a re-statement of our determination to keep such secrets as we can until unbreachable safeguards have been set up against boom-orangs, and an expression of belief that the Russians are judging other people by themselves.

There is resentment that America's goodwill is not accepted at face value; that we are accused of desiring world domination in the face of our altruistic record. Although admittedly working in our own interest in attempting to set up controls before every nation, large or small, becomes a potential threat to peace, there is bitterness that we should be expected just to give up, without quid pro quo, the fruit of the expenditure of billions of dollars and the greatest concentration of channeled genius in history. Even the British and Canadians, who contributed in every way they could, have not expected the United States to yield information which is peculiarly hers. But of course the British and Canadians do not foresee a time when they might be seeking to expand militant ideology at the danger of a clash with the capitalistic world.

Control of War
However, the point is that the actual circumstances surrounding the prospects for atomic control reduce today's argumentation to the status of mere fulmination.

These are the sketchiest of opening skirmishes. The truth is that control of atomic power involves the same principles as control of war itself, no less; that neither is likely to come without the other; and that many years, with great changes in the attitudes of both Russia and the United States, are likely to come first.

Bernard Baruch, with his singular ability to strike to the heart of a problem, hinted that any ultimate control plan might develop into an over-all peace formula. He was assigned merely to present a plan for atomic control. Others are assigned to the peace job. Otherwise the Baruch report might have placed greater stress on this angle.

Since any really workable control plan would need merely the substitution of "implements of war" for the words "atomic bomb" to accomplish the entire desire, a great many observers are wondering if a concentrated "Manhattan project" aimed at overall peace might not have been the better procedure.

prosperity. But Stabilization Director Chester Bowles damned them in advance as "booby trap" breeders of inflation.

Among them:
1. An end to OPA's controversial program calling for specific quantities of lower-cost clothing.

2. A halt to so-called cost-absorption on such things as autos, refrigerators and radios.

3. A requirement that average unit cost increases since 1941 must be reflected in all price ceilings.

Last night's session was forced by widely varying extension bills passed separately by the House and Senate.

The conferees—representing both chambers—convened behind locked doors at 8 o'clock last night in the capitol office of Senator Barkley (Ky.), the majority leader.

Three and one-half hours later Barkley beckoned 20 waiting reporters into the marble-decorated room and announced the agreement.

Taft Is Opposed
A majority of the seven delegates from each House signed the committee's recommendations, he reported. Senator Taft (R-Ohio) quickly amplified the declaration: he and Senator Milliken (R-Colo.) had not done so, he said. And Senator Radcliffe (D-Mo.), another conferee, was home for a primary election.

The House conferees added that only Rep. Crawford (R-Mich.) had failed to sign on their side. But they said he would do so today.

The refusal of Taft and Milliken to approve the report immediately led to speculation whether they would oppose it in the Senate and attempt to force a further revision.

Each house has its choice of voting the conferees' recommendations up or down, or sending the bill back to the joint committee with instructions for specific changes.

Barkley carefully had avoided a roll call vote in the Senate on the meat-poultry-dairy decontrol amendment which was approved by a narrow margin in the banking committee.

Decontrol Board
The Senate lost out in conference on all specific decontrols. However, it prevailed on the full year's extension, for the House had voted only nine months beyond June 30. Senate theories came out on top again in creation of a three-member decontrol board, to be appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. Independent of OPA, the bipartisan board could over-rule the Price Administrator or the Secretary of Agriculture if either, without good reason, rejected an industry's request to lift ceilings.

The Secretary of Agriculture was given control over all farm products, whereas heretofore OPA has had the final say.

Because of the many ceiling adjustments that will have to be made under the compromise version, the conferees inserted a provision giving OPA 30 days after July 1 to re-price articles still under control.

Food Subsidies Out
The conferees reached their own compromise on the hotly-disputed issues of subsidies—government payments designed to keep down retail prices.

They voted to hold them to an even $1,000,000,000 and to quit paying food subsidies next April 1.

The Senate had voted for $1,100,000,000 and May 1. OPA itself had asked for a total of $2,051,000,000. The House said meat subsidies ought to be stopped June 30, this year, and all food subsidies by December 31.

Wounded Near Frankfurt
Fifteen miles from Rome, the 45th was pulled out of the front lines and sent back to Salerno for a refresher course in amphibious work. They then took part in the invasion of Southern France and fought all the way up the Rhone Valley to Germany. Near Frankfurt on the Main Captain Denham was wounded.

Sent home on a 45-day leave he arrived in the States scheduled to return. While he was home the Germans surrendered and he was sent to Fort Bragg, remaining there until sent here this week. He has served as a platoon leader, company commander and battalion S-3. During the war the 45th had 511 days of combat.

Captain Denham is married and has one son. His wife and child came with him to Gettysburg. They are now seeking an apartment or house and in the meantime are living in one room.

Asserts He Split Fees With Another

Williamsport, Pa., June 25 (AP)— Federal Judge Albert L. Watson, changing his original plans, ordered testimony resumed today in the suit of 20 stockholders of the Williamsport Wire Rope company to have the sale of their plant to the Bethlehem Steel corporation set aside.
Delmar K. Townsend, of Hughes-ville, a receiver for the wire company, testified yesterday that he split all his fees 50-50 with Albert W. Johnson, Jr., son of former Federal Judge Albert W. Johnson of Lewisburg.

Under questioning by Charles Bidschpacher, counsel for the stockholders, Townsend said that he received more than $40,000 while a receiver, and that after deducting his income taxes he turned over approximately $20,000 to Albert Johnson, Jr.

Townsend said he began making monthly payments to the younger Johnson shortly after he was appointed by the father to act as receiver, and that the payments were made at young Johnson's Williamsport office.

Frock, Gene Dolly, Paul Fissel, Dale
Reinecker and Dale Stock.

H. C. Pettehoff, of the state department of agriculture spoke at the session on the importance of farm youth.

never come when farming can offer
a work-week comparable to industry.

President Fred Geiselman presided at the meeting at which plans were made to hold a campfire session on July 25. Visitors to the session included Daniel Paddock, agricultural representative of the First National Bank of Gettysburg and
A. C. Hug, York county, assistant farm agent.

Agent To Be Here On Age Benefits

office of the Social Security board of the Federal Security Agency will

W. Hoke, York office manager.

USES office, 20 Baltimore street at 1 o'clock Wednesday.

Persons now 65 or over who have been employed since 1937 in any kind of work covered by the Social Security act should get in touch with the Social Security board representative as should close relatives of persons who die. To prevent loss of benefits to survivors due to the time limit on all types of benefits, survivors and those 65
should apply as soon as possible.

Harrisburg, June 25 (AP)—The body of two-year-old Richard S. Thompson, son of Capt. and Mrs. Richard Thompson, of nearby Williams

Breeches creek. He disappeared June 15 while playing along the banks of the creek.

Baltimore Livestock

CATTLE—Receipts at the opening of this week sharply increased over a week ago. The increase noted in the stocker and feeder division and these classes again predominated the day's receipts. Slaughter cattle in major supply. Outside buyers again set the buying pace so far as slaughter cattle concerned with local and big packer buyers practically unable to buy anything due to compliance limits.
All slaughter classes, as well as stockers and feeders, active and fully steady with the close of last week.

In the steer division, the first grass-fat of the season offered. Forty-five head of top-grade grass-fat steers averaged 1,175 pounds, $18.25, with a load around 1,060 pounds same price. Scattered lots of low and average-grade Western shorthorns, $16-17.50. In the heifer division, a few good short-fat arrivals, $14.50-15.50.
The bulk of the receipts, common and medium arrivals, $12.50-14.
Smooth, young medium grade cows, $12-
13.50, with young medium grade fat beef
12.50, with outsiders taking fat beef cows freely, $14-15. Common grade cows, cows carrying fat and flesh but aged and hippy, $9.50-11.50. Canner and cutters, $7.50-9, with most sales starting at $8. Good beef bulls largely $15.50-16.50, with a pair, having exceptionally good yielding qualities, $16.75-17. Good weighty sausage bulls largely $14-14.50, with high-yielding individuals to $15-15.50.
Although stocker and feeder receipts increased over a week ago, outlet broad and by the close of the trading session the yards well cleared. A few loads and lots of top-good and choice lightweight Western stocker and feeder steers, $17.25-18. The bulk of the receipts graded medium and good, $15-17. These covered a wide range of weights. Common arrivals, mostly odd lots sorted, from load lots, $14-14.25.
CALVES—Vealers in broad demand, active and steady with last week's close.
Mixed lots of good and choice 120-220-pound vealers, $17, mainly $18. Common and medium grades largely $10.50-15.50, few lots, $16. Culls around $8, with extreme lightweights to $5. Weighty slaughter and calf receipts too light to warrant a fair test of the market.

HOGS—Swine trading active and steady with last week's close at ceiling prices. All interests competed for the available supply, which was far below the demand. Good and choice barrows and gilts, $15.40, and good sows, $14.50.
SHEEP—Spring lamb trade very active and prices 50c. higher than the close of last week. The practical top and popular price $18.50. Mixed lots of good and choice 70-100-pound spring lambs, $12-18.50.
Mixed lots of medium and good arrivals, $13-14.50. Slaughter ewes shared the lamb advance. Choice lightweight woolled ewes, $9 down, with comparable shorn ewes selling 7c. down.

PRACTICE BOMB AT BIKINI HAS "GOOD" RESULTS

By CHARLES H. MCMURTRY

June 25 (AP)—The B-29 crew selected
June 24 (AP)—The B-29 crew selected
to drop the atomic bomb in a few days outgassed the weather Mon.
and scored "good" results with a practice bomb—after their plane's propeller killed an Army Air Forces
captain just before the take off.

Maj. Gen. Roger Ramey of Denton, Tex., who rode the B-29 that dropped the practice bomb Monday,
said:

"The Queen's day mission from an air operations point of view was apparently satisfactory. Final judgment depends on photographs and reports."

From the U.S.S. Mt. McKinley, Associated Press Correspondent Elton C. Fay quoted that atomic bomb task force commander, Vice Adm.
W. H. P. Blandy, as saying that the experiment was "swell, I hope the real show is as good as the rehearsal."

Clouds obliterated at target ships
in Bikini lagoon when the B-29, piloted by Maj. Woodrow Swancutt of Wisconsin-Rapids, Wis., made its first run. But by the time the big plane came around again, the bombardier, Harold H. Wood of Border-town N. J., was able to take advantage of shifting clouds to drop his practice bomb within thirteen seconds of the scheduled time.

Fay aboard the Mt. McKinley said the bomb went off "like a fall of orange flame bursting close to the target ships" in the Bikini fleet that is to be used on or about July 1 when the world's fourth atomic bomb actually is dropped.
The Mt. McKinley was 10 miles away but Fay said the bomb apparently went off at an altitude of 1,000 to 1,500 feet between the old battleship, U.S.S. Nevada, and the light carrier, Independence.

Walked Into Propeller

Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Power, who supervises the command plane on all atomic air operations, said today the practice bomb "produced an air burst several hundred feet above the target ship, Nevada.
Clouds caused considerable difficulty and only by outguessing the weather was the mission accomplished. All communications surpassed my expectations. The Army and Navy Air forces worked in excellent coordination."

Before Maj. Swancutt's plane,
"Dave's Dream," took off, an Army Air forces captain walked into a propeller and was killed. Members of the crew helped place his body
in an ambulance before taking off one minute late. Their coolness and determination to carry out their mission was praised by military leaders, including Col. William H.
Blanchard of Chelsea, Mass., who rode in the tailgun position of Maj.
Swancutt's plane.

duced to several other guests at a

nominated to succeed him.

Several other incumbent Republicans from the state were similarly introducing new Republican nominees from their district, but in Rodgers' case it was different.

JIGGER MORAN

By JOHN ROEBURT

The rain came down in torrents.
Lightning bolts whammed solar-plexus wallows into the floundering sky. Park Avenue on the uptown run was empty of life, flooded with rainwater and taxicabs. Red was inside the Imperial, sitting on the edge of his seat, yelling his head off.

"Jigger, I'm fed up doubling as a gumshoe. It's no life for me. I'm a writer and I want to go home."
Jigger howled down the rebellion, beating Red's pitch by an octave. "That's exactly why you're riding free—as the company's guest.
As a writer you shouldn't turn your back on adventure. I'm going to put you hep to a phase of life worth exploring. Just take mental notes.
You'll have enough material for a feature article before an hour is up."

The last liveried doorman lachrymose with open umbrella under the last apartment house canopy receded at Ninety-sixth Street and the Imperial hurtled into Puerto Rican Harlem.

Jigger jerked a cigarette at Red over his shoulder. "Here's a clue to where we're going."

Red revolved the cigarette in his palm. "So what?"
"It's a Birdie Nevers special—a reefer. He left a widow and a smoke-joint that was a going business that I'm perishing to look over
—if I can find it."

Red was sarcastic. "That shouldn't be hard. Couldn't you bleed the address out of A'hearn?"
"Nope. The best the police could do was a downtown hotel. They didn't even know Birdie was married. Birdie kept his home life pretty secret. I spent two hours hounding swing-drummers and assorted musicians for Birdie's addressed—without any luck. All I got was orders for a couple of long tons of reefers."

"Where are we heading now?"
"Right in the neighborhood. An unemployed saxophonist blew hot for a V-note. He gave me a lead to a tycoon who deals in occult products with a little marijuana to anyone who has the open sesame to his room behind the store."

"What's the tie-up?"
Birdie had an interest in the business. Holds a flock of the dealer's post dated checks with the stock inventory and Birdie's reputation as a thug—as collateral for the money lent out."

"How come the sax player knew all this?"
"Seems Birdie got loose lips when on a reefer jag. He liked to brag."

"What do you want with the dealer?"
"The whereabouts of Birdie's missus and his reefer heaven."

Jigger linked arms with Red fondly. "I'm sorry, Red. I know I'm pushing you around, but I've got to get you into the Statler hotel to meet party leaders and candidates as Carroll D. Kearns, superintendent of schools at Parrell, who had defeated Rodgers in a three-way race for the nomination
in the May 21 primary.

Unlike the six other incumbent Pennsylvania Republicans who are voluntarily leaving Congress this year, Rodgers had wanted to come back next year.

Kearns told a reporter Rodgers
had demonstrated sportsmanship
in the defeat.

Jigger grinned. "I got up to Three,
ch. Red? Well, Four, Five, and Six in a batch. Why did the widow Herz pull the trigger the second time and let on she knew I was no dick? Why did she make away with Doc Herz's library and try to avoid admitting it? Finally, where does Leeds fit in?"
"Still zero, Jigger. She shot at you as an intruder. Any self-respecting citizen would. Also, she had a perfect right to conceal her husband's library. People are generally reticent about their political reading nowadays. Your Leeds is out of his head—as you yourself said—and at most an irrelevant personality in this case."

Jigger pulled to a halt in front of a double store window that displayed canisters of herbs, roots, bottled cointments, books on legendary witchcraft, and scores of assorted items in the voodoo domain.
A peeling sign identified it a charm
castle.

Jigger struck a tat-tat-tat on Red's
arm. "You may yet be right, Red.
Meanwhile, I doubt it. Anyhow, with Joey jalled, we'll soon know."
Red said, "I don't get it."
"A'hearn pinched Joey this a. m.
Except for the wear and tear on Joey, it was a good stroke. They can't blame Joey for the next development, with Joey under lock and key."
"Meanwhile... let's go in and see what's with the open sesame the sax player gave me. Just pray that I can sell the charmpotter a bill of goods."

HELP, POLICE
Spokane, Wash., June 25 (AP)—John A. Scott, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Spokane county sheriff, offered a $50 reward for the arrest and conviction of thieves who stole three of his big hand-painted campaign signs. The would-be sheriff says he has no clue.

COURT SCENE
Omaha, Nebr., June 25 (AP)—The dignity of Judge Perry Wheeler's South Omaha police court was suddenly shattered when a two year old girl, wearing only a blouse, scampered through the courtroom. She didn't stop, leaving by the rear entrance, with her mother in close pursuit.

The runaway had been with her mother in the family welfare office across the hall from the court.

PLAN BLUE STAR MEMORIAL DRIVE

Hershey, Pa., June 25 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Roadside Council under the direction of Mrs. Cyril G. Fox, of Media, today became the sponsoring agency for a proposed Blue Star Memorial drive across Pennsylvania.

Under a plan outlined by Mrs. Vance R. Hood, national chairman of the transcontinental project, each state will plant memorial trees and shrubs along the right of way of the selected highway as a tribute to those that gave their lives in the service of their country.

The roadside council was selected for the work last night at a meeting of the Pennsylvania Federation of Garden clubs attended by more than 150 delegates from all affiliated clubs in the state.

HOBB'S BILL IS NOT NEW; PLUGS OLD LOOPHOLE

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, June 25 (AP)—Of all the legislation batted around by Congress this year to restrict certain union activities, the Hobbs bill at the moment has the best chance of becoming law.

This bill—called an anti-racketeering bill—has had a strange history. It is not really something new to stop racketeering. It is an amendment to an old law.

The Supreme Court several years ago pointed out a loophole in that old law and now Congress—since both Houses have passed the Hobbs bill—has decided to plug the hole.

The bill now is on President Truman's desk for him to sign into law or to veto, as he vetoed the Case bill June 11. The Case bill would have put several restrictions on unions.

(The Hobbs bill doesn't apply only to racketeering attempts by unions but to anyone making such a try.)
May Veto Measure
There's talk that Mr. Truman will let the Hobbs bill become law. But this is not certain. There are several reasons to think he may veto it. Here's the story.

In 1934 Congress passed an anti-racketeering law making it a crime for anyone to obtain money from anyone by robbery or extortion, that is, through threats of force or violence.

This applied only to goods in interstate commerce. For example: Jones, a New Jersey farmer, used to drive his truckload of vegetables from his farm to a market in New York city. Since he crossed a state line, that put him in interstate commerce.

But one day, and every day thereafter, a group of New York union truck drivers stopped Jones.

They told him: "All the New York truck drivers belong to our union. You don't; you're from Jersey. Our drivers get $10 a day. If you want to drive into New York with your truck, you'll have to do this:

"Give us $10 every time you come in. One of our drivers will drive your truck into New York to the market and drive it out again. Or, if you want to drive it yourself, you can, if you give us the $10 anyway."

Arrested, Then Freed
If Jones didn't come across with his $10, he might be beaten up or his truck might be dumped into the river. Eventually, something like that happened. And a number of New York union truck drivers were arrested.

They were convicted in Federal Court for violating the 1934 Anti-Racketeering Act. But when the men appealed to the Supreme Court, that court freed them because of technicality in the law.

The Supreme Court handed down its decision in 1942. In 1943 Rep. Sam Hobbs, Alabama Democrat, got the House to pass a bill to tighten up the 1934 law.

But the bill went to the Senate which let it die without voting on it. In December, 1945, Hobbs got the House to pass his bill again. And Those enrolled were: Gudrun Rice, Polly Wright, Beverly Bowler, Larry Guise, Pamela Wentzel, Karen Cornman, Richard Lawver, Nancy Eckert, Barbara Clinch, Dorothy Weaver, Glenn Thomas, Ann Kuykendall, Brenda Minter, Natalie Burkhardt.

Seventy-one pupils received the Robert Raiker diploma for regular attendance and specified work. Nine pupils received the second year seal to affix to the diploma they already have; twelve received the third year seal and twelve received the fourth year seal.

again it went to the Senate, languishing in a pigeonhole.

But a few weeks ago, angry because of the strikes, Congress passed the Case bill. The Hobbs amendment to the 1934 anti-racketeering law was made part of the Case bill.

But Congress pulled the amendment out of the vetoed Case bill and passed it as an independent bill, an amendment to the 1934 law.

help of those agencies and the Office of Defense Transportation— which Mr. Tinney described as "refining" coordination between transportation agencies and providing "very material assistance in getting a big job well done — the railroads handled nearly double the peak World War I load during the last war with a third less freight cars.

He concluded by referring to two current national issues that concern the railroads. He declared the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway would replace and not supplement transportation and power facilities already available to the "saturation point" in the St. Lawrence area. He also stated the railroads are seeking passage of the Bulwinkle bill—already passed by the House and now up for Senate action—which would sanction the conference method of setting freight rates by the railroads.

52 Attend
Requests for donations by the club from the Gettysburg Recreation Board and the Veterans' Welcome Home committee were referred to the club's finance committee for later recommendation.

A committee headed by Dean W. E. Tilberg was named to prepare a club of the state calling attention letter to be circulated among Lions to the candidacy of John S. Rice, a 20-year member of the Gettysburg Lions club, for governor of the state.

Fifty-two members and guests of the club attended the meeting. Among the guests was John W. Hewitt of Gettysburg who was presented with a birthday gift from the club.
